

THE SPOUT SPRING TIMES.

VOL. 2. SPOUTSPRING, KY., FEB. 13, 1897. NO. 4.

Corn which at gathering time sold for 75 cents a barrel in the field, has advanced to $1.50 and is likely to reach $2. before the new crop comes in. While many farmers have disposed of their corn, there are others who anticipated the rise and have now a surplus in their cribs. Thomas Gibson has 500 barrels in his crib; Col. Caperton has about 600 barrels and there are others—Richmond Register.

Mrs. J. B. Hughes, of this county, has in her possession a piece of continental currency which was paid to her grandfather as a soldier in the Revolutionary war. Sharpsburg World.

A Prolific Sow.

A Grass Lick farmer has a sow three years old, of Poland China breeding, which has had six litters of pigs, divided as follows: 14, 17, 15, 17, 17, 15, making 95 pigs in all.

Contest Decided.

The contest in this the Tenth Congressional District, which has created considerable attention, was decided last Friday, when the committee reported in favor of Mr. Kendall.

ASSASSIN.

About 8 o'clock Tuesday night a foul crime was committed at Jeffersonville. James Cockram, one of Montgomery's best citizens and a prominent merchant of Jeffersonville, was the victim. He was shot with a Winchester rifle by Burr Caywood breaking his neck. Caywood made his escape, but is being pursued.

Fire at Carlisle.

Carlisle was visited Wednesday morning by a fire in which the following houses were burned: J. F. Firth's hardware store, E. A. Poynter's photo establishment and the St. Cloud Hotel, adjoining, entailing a loss of $25,000, with no insurance save $3,000 on the hardware store building, owned by B. F. Adair.

Five hundred dollars in cash belonging to Mrs. Poynter was also consumed in the flames.

The Paris Fire Company responded nobly to a call for aid, and did much toward saving the adjoining buildings. The fire removed one of the town's oldest landmarks, the Hotel which has stood for over fifty years.

The Democrats of Montgomery County will hold a primary election March 26, for the purpose of nominating the various county offices.
